BUSINESS DESCRIPTION

Café du Nord is a neighborhood bar and restaurant serving the Castro/Upper Market neighborhood. It is located in the newly restored Swedish American Hall on Market Street near Sanchez Street in a blended Scandinavian and Arts & Crafts influenced building constructed in 1907. The café was opened in 1908 originally as a saloon and billiards and was the first and only tenant of the basement commercial space within the Swedish American Hall, which for decades served as the center of Scandinavian Life when Duboce Triangle was a predominantly Nordic neighborhood. The Swedish American Hall has hosted an array of meetings and events for fraternal organizations and clubs, many of which continue to meet at the hall and at Café du Nord. The café's 108 year life has proven to become an integral asset both to the Castro/Upper Market neighborhood and to San Francisco as a whole. Café du Nord is one of the oldest, continuously operating bars in San Francisco, is one of the few that survived prohibition, and has a rich history of hosting events and congregations of groups, organizations and individuals who hold a prominent place in San Francisco history. Additionally, Café du Nord offers charitable donations to an array of organizations, hosts events for non-profits and Swedish Cultural organizations, and has partnered with local groups to create events and programming for the community.

Re: Nomination of Café du Nord to the Legacy Business Registry

Dear Director Regina Dick Endrizzi:

I'm writing to nominate Café du Nord for the Legacy Business Registry. Café du Nord has been serving San Francisco (almost) continuously since 1907. Reopened after restoration in the summer of 2015, it is once again providing San Franciscans with good food, good drink and good times.

Café du Nord is a longtime local treasure, and would benefit greatly from being a part of San Francisco's Legacy Business Registry. I thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Member, San Francisco Board of Supervisors

Café du Nord Legacy Business Registry Application
Section 4 Written Historical Narrative.

CRITERION 1

- A. Provide a short history of the business from the date the business opened in San Francisco to the present day, including the ownership history. For businesses with multiple locations, include the history of the original location in San Francisco (including whether it was the business's founding and or headquartered location) and the opening dates and locations of all other locations.

The Café du Nord, 2170 Market Street, was opened in 1908 in the newly completed Swedish American Hall, a building built and owned to this day by the Swedish Society of San Francisco. The building on Market Street replaced the Swedish Society's former home that was lost in the 1906 Earthquake and Fire. The new building was designed with commercial spaces on the ground floor and in the basement to provide income for the maintenance of the Hall.

The Café du Nord was the first and only tenant of the basement commercial space and opened soon after the building was dedicated in January of 1908. The first operator was Thomas Hain, a Duboce Triangle resident and saloon keeper, who opened the space as a "first class saloon and billiards" (we have a copy of the original letter of intent to lease the space and have included it with our packet.). Over the years there have been modifications on the saloon theme, but in its 108 year history it has always been a neighborhood bar in San Francisco and operated at 2170 Market Street.

Known Operators: 1908 – 1910 Thomas Hain 1910 to 1920 Swedish American Mercantile Company 1920 – 1933 (Prohibition) Transitioned to a restaurant and bar, Scandinavian in theme, operator unknown. After 1956: Café du Nord became a Basque restaurant and bar. 1991: John Varnedoe became the operator and Café du Nord became a bar and restaurant with Jazz 1995: Cindy Kahl continued evolution to live music with more jazz 2001: Guy Carson buys Café du Nord and makes an indie music venue with bar and restaurant, 2013: Dylan MacNiven and Enrique Landa buy Café du Nord and partner with NeTimeas restaurant group to reopen Café du Nord as a bar and restaurant.

- B. Is the business a family-owned business? If so, give the generational history of the business.

No Café du Nord is not a family owned business.

- C. Describe the ownership history when the business ownership is not the original owner or a family-owned business.

I have described the ownership as best as possible above. Records of the Swedish Society continuously show the Café du Nord as the tenant, but not always the specific owner/operator of the business.

D. Note any other special features of the business location, such as, if the property associated with the business is listed on a local, state, or federal historic resources registry.

The Café du Nord is located within the historic Swedish American Hall which was recognized as Landmark #267 by the City and County of San Francisco in the spring of 2015. The building was designed by famed local architect of Swedish decent, August Nordin, who designed more than 200 buildings in San Francisco. The building which is one of his masterpieces is incredibly well preserved, and features a blend of Scandinavian and Arts and Crafts influences. It is also an excellent example of the architecture of the time.

The façade is largely unchanged from 1908 and has continuously featured a sign for Café du Nord. Sometime in the 30s a neon sign pointing down to the Café du Nord was added and remains today, having been recently restored. Within the space many of the original features including the back bar, much of the bar and its features, the wood wainscoting, and other architectural features remain and were restored in 2015. An image of the building in 1909 with the Café du Nord sign is provided with this application as well as a modern image of the façade today.

The building is eligible for the National Register of Historic Places, a designation that is currently being sought.

CRITERION 2

A. Describe the business's contribution to the history and/or identity of the neighborhood, community or San Francisco.

The Café du Nord is located in the historic Swedish American Hall, which was built and for decades served as the center of Scandinavian life when the Duboce Triangle neighborhood was a mostly Nordic Neighborhood. Within the Swedish American Hall, a myriad of fraternal organizations and clubs met and hosted events. Many of those groups continue to meet at the Swedish American Hall and at the Café du Nord.

Because it has operated continuously since 1908 in the same location, the bar is engrained in the history of Duboce Triangle and the Upper Market Neighborhood.

B. Is the business (or has been) associated with significant events in the neighborhood, the city, or the business industry

The Café du Nord is one of the oldest, continuously operating, bars in San Francisco and one of the few that survived prohibition.

For the Pan Pacific Exhibition in 1915, the building served as the home of the Swedish Organizing Committee for the fair. A picture of fair attendees in costume on their way to the fair is included in the packet.

The building and the Café du Nord served a similar role for the Golden Gate International Exposition of 1939. The Swedish Society has all of the records of the Swedish Organizing Committee in its archive.

C. Has the business ever been referenced in an historical context? Such as in a business trade publication, media, or historical documents?

When the cornerstone of the Swedish American Hall was laid on July 27, 1907, it was covered in the San Francisco Chronicle the following day. Since then the building and the Café du Nord have received regular press coverage in the Chronicle and Vestkusten, the Swedish Newspaper of West Coast of the United States.

The Café du Nord was included in JK Dineen's 2015 book on the legacy bars of San Francisco.

When the building was landmarked and the Café du Nord was reopened after a renovation, it received substantial news coverage. Two representative articles have been included with packet.

D. Is the business associated with a significant or historical person?

Because the building is within the Swedish American Hall, the Café du Nord is associated with the Swedish Society of San Francisco one of San Francisco's oldest fraternal organizations, having been founded in 1865.

E. How does the business demonstrate its commitment to the community?

Besides charitable donations from our organization and hosting a wide array of events for non-profits and Swedish Cultural organizations, we have sought to partner with organizations to create events and programming for the community.

This year we have teamed up with La Cocina to host "Voices from the Kitchen" a lecture series focused on the food industry and the challenges faced by those that work in the industry. We have increasingly worked with San Francisco Heritage, hosting their lectures and other events to foment the preservation of historic businesses and buildings like ours.

F. Provide a description of the community the business serves.

The Café du Nord is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, bars in Upper Market and for more than a century it has served the communities of Duboce Triangle, Eureka Valley, and the Castro, but also draws a city wide audience for the various musical and cultural programs we host.

We also serve the Swedish and Scandinavian communities for various events and special occasions.

G. Is the business associated with a culturally significant building, structure, site, object, interior.

The Café du Nord is intrinsically linked with the Swedish American Hall, serving as the sole tenant of basement for the past 108 years.

The original interior of the Café du Nord has been incredibly well preserved and was recently restored. The current owners of the business worked with the historic preservation division of the Planning Department with the restoration of the interior of the Café du Nord. With their help, the interior was restored and returned as much as possible to the original state.

The major interior original features of the bar that remain today are the stained wood boxed beam ceiling, the wainscoting and the bars. The back bar from 1908 was restored and remains in place, largely as it did when the bar opened. The original wainscoting of the bar was all restored and preserved and is painted in its original color which was discovered during the renovation. The front bar was restored with the original brass railings and copper kick plates remaining in place.

As a part of the 18-month renovation, the interior of the Café du Nord was included in the landmark designation of the Swedish American Hall which now protects it.

H. How would the community be diminished if the business were to be sold, relocated, shut down, etc.?

The Café du Nord sustains the Swedish American Hall and allows for the historic building to operate and be maintained. Losing the bar, would risk the financial stability of this landmark building.

Moreover, closing one of San Francisco's oldest bars and restaurants would be a loss, so much of Upper Market is so new and we are one of the few businesses established as the neighborhood was being built. In a city where everything is changing so quickly, we need to keep things that have endured for decades.

There is also something special about bars that survived prohibition.

CRITERION 3

A. Describe the business and the essential features that define its character.

Café du Nord is recognized by its 1930s era art deco neon sign that has alerts passers-by to its presence in the Swedish American Hall. Descending down the stairs from Market Street, one is immediately immersed in the history of the Café du Nord. A large painting of legendary tenor, Enrico Carouso's, mistress looks down at you as you enter. Arriving at the bottom, one immediately notices a fifty-five foot long bar of dark mahogany and bright metal. Sitting at the bar one notices a very ornamental back bar on which bottles of various spirits sit and have sat for more than 100 years. The room is surrounded by teal wainscoting and wallpaper from its opening era. The dimly lit room provides a small and large groups a space for conversation and cocktails largely the same as it did when it opened in 1908.

B. How does the business demonstrate a commitment to maintaining the historical traditions that define the business, and which of these traditions should not be changed in order to retain the businesses historical character? (e.g., business model, goods and services, craft, culinary, or art forms)

When the Café du Nord was up for sale in 2013, there were various users that wanted to use the space for something different than a bar. The current owners, Dylan MacNiven and Enrique Landa, bought the business to ensure that one of San Francisco's oldest bars continued in place and in operation. That commitment is demonstrated by the substantial investment in the restoration of the space and a new business structure to ensure Café du Nord remains a bar for decades to come.

When the business reopened the Café du Nord featured cocktails from each era of its operation, including typical cocktails that would have been served in 1908.

Besides our cocktail program, we regularly host organizations that have made their home in the Swedish American Hall since it was opened. These Swedish and Scandinavian fraternal organizations are an integral part of the bar and San Francisco's history.

C. How has the business demonstrated a commitment to maintaining the special physical features that define the business? Describe any special exterior and interior physical characteristics of the space occupied by the business (e.g. signage, murals, architectural details, neon signs, etc.).

The Café du Nord has a commitment to maintain the interior of the business which provides most of its character. During the restoration and renovation, the ownership spent considerable time and resources restoring and maintaining the historic interior of the Café du Nord. That commitment extended to including the interior in the landmark designation of the building to ensure that it would be preserved for future generations.

The renovation included the neon sign of the Café du Nord which dates from the 1930s. The large red neon arrow points down to the Café du Nord below.

D. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30 years; the applicant will need to provide documentation that demonstrates the current owner has maintained the physical features or traditions that define the business, including craft, culinary, or art forms.

The landmark designation case report from November 2014 that confirms our ownership's preservation and maintenance of the Café du Nord as a bar within a historic building. The case report can be found online here

After more than a hundred years as a Scandinavian meeting spot, a low key wedding venue, and “that weird building on Market Street that looks like a ski lodge,” the Swedish American Hall \(http://www.swedishamericanhall.com/\) is trying on a new identity.

Following a year of renovations, the Hall will reopen as a concert venue, operated by longtime music festival promoters Noise Pop (<http://www.noisepop.com/>). The first public show will be Noise Pop's opening night party (<http://calendar.noisepop.com/events/2015/2/23/opening-night-party>) on Feb. 23, with the hall serving as the festival's headquarters for the duration of the festival, and events taking place at the hall every night. When the festival ends, Noise Pop will continue to book shows for the space full-time, and two restaurants will open later this year.

And that's not all that's new for the Hall. The building—known for its alpine meets Arts & Craft style—is in the process of being officially designated (<http://www.sf-planning.org/index.aspx?page=2907>) a San Francisco landmark. Its owners, the Swedish Society of San Francisco, hope it will have achieved landmark status in time for the Hall's rededication ceremony in early May.

It's an exciting new chapter for the hall, built in 1907. The Gold Rush brought an influx of Swedes to San Francisco, who formed several fraternal groups in an effort to preserve customs and simply find people to speak their own language with. One such group was the Swedish Society of San Francisco, which started in 1873 as a choral group called the Original Orpheus Singing Club, and sang traditional Swedish songs like "Klara stjärnor" (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=UlvI5WvSZZY>) and "Sångarfanan" (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YmIZWWjxxo>). Like many organizations of the time, they soon became more of a traditional fraternal organization, offering their members sick benefits and burial services in exchange for dues of a dollar per month.

After the 1906 earthquake destroyed their temporary meeting space, they decided to build something permanent. The society bought the property on Market Street to build a permanent residence for the society, but there was one problem, noted in a history of the hall written in 1925: "Thus the Swedish Society had land and wonderful plans and specifications for a building, but lacked a very important item, namely necessary capital." But all wasn't lost: "Did the committee confess failure? They did not."

They were saved by Erik O. Lindblom (<http://www.alaskaweb.org/bios/lindblomeo.html>), a wealthy businessman known as one of the “Three Lucky Swedes” for their discovery of the first gold in Nome, Alaska. Lindblom lent them $40,000 for building costs, and Swedish architect August Nordin built the hall in just one year, officially opening in December 1907.

The new hall helped transform the neighborhood into a Scandinavian hub for the first part of the century. In addition to the Swedish American Hall, there was a Danish hall, the offices of Swedish newspaper Vestkusten, and Finnila’s Finnish Baths, among others. When Cafe du Nord opened in the Hall’s basement in 1908, one of the things it boasted was its sillfrukost, a plate of herring for breakfast.

Over the years the hall stayed true to its original mission as a place where Scandinavian culture could flourish, where organizations could assemble in one of Hall’s several meeting rooms (many named for figures in Norse mythology, like Odin and Valhalla). This also meant hosting any Swedish nobility who might be in town — just few years ago, in fact, Sweden’s Princess Victoria stopped by to rededicate the hall.

The hall is also open to the public: churches hold services there, and to this day, it’s still one of the few relatively affordable wedding venues in the city. Everything from San Francisco’s first public meeting of Asian lesbians to WordPress conferences and talks on healing AIDS with positive thinking have taken place under the building’s gabled roof. The hall has also played host to a different kind of guest over the years; two ghosts allegedly call the hall home. One plays piano in the Hall, and the other haunts Cafe Du Nord.

(<http://ww2.kqed.org/arts/wp-content/uploads/sites/2/2015/02/resized.jpg>).

The Hall still hosts a wide variety of community and Swedish events. The Swedish Society of San Francisco, which now has about 45 members, continues to host meetings there, along with various other Scandinavian groups (one group hosts a contemporary Swedish literature book club there). But a few years ago, a restaurateur and an investor saw the potential of the space to be more than just a community hub.

When restaurateur Dylan MacNiven and investor Enrique Landa originally looked at the space, they just wanted to revamp Cafe Du Nord. But the more they looked into the Swedish Hall, they saw the space’s potential. They teamed up with Noise Pop, who’s hosted shows at the hall since 2004 to book acts for the building, and developed plans for both a restaurant downstairs at Du Nord and another restaurant upstairs.

The renovations took about a year, and while Landa describes the upgrades as costing “obscene amounts of money,” the changes were relatively minor for such an old building. Licenses were acquired, kitchens were upgraded and plumbing was modernized, but there were no major overhauls. (There were some surprises, however: workers found what appeared to be coins that acted as drink tickets at the surrounding bars hidden in the walls. “A proto-sharing economy,” said Landa).

“The most surprising thing was that it was pretty much intact,” said Landa. “It never got ruined, it never had a bad remodel. We had the luxury of just kind of scraping off the dirt and the grime, cleaning things up and having a great new building.”

The most noticeable changes are upgraded bathrooms and — finally — a working elevator. When August Nordin built the hall, he included an elevator shaft, but no one ever put an elevator in it.

Noise Pop is still working on a programming calendar for the rest of the year’s events at the hall, and they’re promising a selection that includes film and literary events along with music. In terms of musical choices for the hall, there are sound limitations—the building isn’t soundproofed, producing acoustics that are great for an unplugged or electronic set, but less so for a punk show.

“Motörhead will not be booked there,” Dawson Ludwig, general manager of Noise Pop, says. “We’re not looking to compete with a lot of the great venues out there like the Chapel, Brick and Mortar, Bottom of the Hill. We’re looking to do something much more intimate, and have artists who can perform stripped-down sets, who are capable of doing something acoustic.”

One musician who meets those requirements? Portland’s Grouper (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GJgXdSVFnJE>), who’s bringing her ambient melancholia back to the Hall for a show on the 27th.

“The show that I’m most excited about is Grouper,” said Ludwig. “She does these really haunting, lullaby-esque songs, and putting that inside of Swedish (https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IBEo8ybWZ\_U), which is just a gorgeous old venue — it’s going to be really cool. And haunting. I think that’ll be perfect for the ghost.”

Renovated Cafe Du Nord Reopens Wednesday At Swedish American Hall

Tue. June 16, 2015, 9:28am

(/ads/2/3/2)

Cafe du Nord (<http://www.cafedunord.com/>) has long been a fixture at the Swedish American Hall, originally opening in 1907, the same year that the hall was built. It's gone through many changes over the years, serving as a music hall, bar, restaurant, and nightclub at various points in time; before its most recent closure (http://hoodline.com/2013/12/big-changes-planned-for-cafe-du-nord?utm\_source=story&utm\_medium=web&utm\_campaign=stories), in 2014, it was a bar and rock club.

The new iteration, created by Aatxe (<http://www.aatxesf.com/>), Central Kitchen (<http://www.centralkitchensf.com/>), and Flour + Water (<http://www.flourandwater.com/>) owners Ne Timeas Restaurant Group (<http://www.netimeas.com/>) and cocktail team The Bon Vivants (<http://www.bonvivants.com/>), will open tomorrow (<https://www.facebook.com/thebonvivants/photos/a.117401208300675.8573.116471705060292/991844030856384/?type=1&theater>). (Despite plans to rebrand as just "Du Nord," it looks like the full name will be retained.) What's in store for the neighborhood fixture? We spoke with Cafe du Nord rep Beth Hengeveld to learn more about the renovations, new menus and drinks, and the planned musical offering.

"The renovations draw design inspiration from the Cafe du Nord of the 1930s and 1940s," Hengeveld explained. "The wood wainscoting is complemented by vintage wallpaper, deco-era light fixtures and a 1930s-era color palette." Cafe du Nord is split into two rooms. The front of the space is a 20-seat bar (the original 107-year-old back bar remains), with cafe table seating. At the back of the space—formerly standing room for concertgoers—is the "Viking Room," which has a smaller bar, 30 seats for full-service dining, and a stage for musical acts.

Entertainment at Cafe du Nord will focus on music to be performed seven nights a week in the Viking Room. "Programming will highlight local artists playing styles [like] jazz, blues, and cocktail piano, as a complement to guests' drinking and dining experiences," said Hengeveld. In short, du Nord is now more of a restaurant and bar than a club, and its quieter emphasis may disappoint fans of its former punk and rock offerings. The Swedish American Hall is now also serving as a music venue

(http://hoodline.com/2014/12/noise-pop-to-reopen-swedish-american-hall-as-dinner-and-a-show-venue?

utm\_source=story&utm\_medium=web&utm\_campaign=stories), but it's required to be acoustic-only, due to noise requirements related to the condo building planned for next door. (Note: Hengeveld checked back in and corrected this detail, saying that according to the team, "there is no such requirement.")

The new menu was created by chef Thomas McNaughton (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Thomas\_McNaughton), who aims to prepare classic dishes "found throughout watering holes and eateries in America in the 20th century." Options range from small snacks, like bar nuts or raw oysters, to larger dishes such as cioppino or a burger. For dessert, there's an ice cream sundae with pretzel brittle and chocolate sauce. Entrees range from $16.50-$34; see the full menu here (<https://www.scribd.com/doc/268855921/Cafe-du-Nord>).

As for drinks, the menu includes a variety of cocktails inspired by du Nord's 100 years of business, as well as beer and wine. "The wine program focuses on Champagne and the diverse wines found throughout that region," Hengeveld said. "And in a nod to the tradition of Champagne served as a celebratory drink, and as a way to make coveted vintages accessible to all, all bottles of Champagne will be half-price after midnight, seven days a week."

The timeless appeal of the establishment is something that du Nord's new partners say they wanted to preserve. "Together we have thoughtfully restored the bar and created food and beverage menus for guests to celebrate all occasions while honoring the legacy of the local icon," Hengeveld told us.

Cafe du Nord is located at 2174 Market Street and will be open every night from 5pm–2am. Reservations for the Viking Room can be made by phone (415-471-2969), with food served until 1:30am. ## BUSINESS DESCRIPTION

Café du Nord is a neighborhood bar and restaurant serving the Castro/Upper Market neighborhood. It is located in the newly restored Swedish American Hall on Market Street near Sanchez Street. The blended Scandinavian and Arts & Crafts influenced building is a three-story-over-basement social hall with commercial spaces at the ground floor and basement level constructed in 1907. The building was constructed to replace the Swedish Society's former home that was lost in the 1906 Earthquake and Fire. The café was opened in 1908 originally as a saloon and billiards and was the first and only tenant of the basement commercial space within the Swedish American Hall, which for decades served as the center of Scandinavian Life when Duboce Triangle was a predominantly Nordic neighborhood. The Swedish American Hall has hosted an array of meetings and events for fraternal organizations and clubs, many of which continue to meet at the hall and at Café du Nord. The café's 108 year life has proven to become an integral asset both to the Castro/Upper Market neighborhood and to San Francisco as a whole. Café du Nord is one of the oldest, continuously operating bars in San Francisco, is one of the few that survived prohibition, and has a rich history of hosting events and congregations of groups, organizations and individuals who hold a prominent place in San Francisco history. Additionally, Café du Nord continuously offers charitable donations to an array of organizations, hosts events for non-profits and Swedish Cultural organizations, and has partnered with local groups to create events and programming for the community.
