BUSINESS DESCRIPTION

The dining room is decorated with ornate pillars, exposed brick and a handmade Italian tiled floor. Ranjan started his career in the food business at the age of 14 at Calcutta’s Park Hotel as a vegetable cutter. After finishing high school, he graduated from the Institute of Catering Technology, Hotel Management and Applied Nutrition.

NEW DELHI RESTAURANT
Section 4: Written Historical Narrative

a. Provide a short history of the business from the date the business opened in San Francisco to the present day, including the ownership history. For businesses with multiple locations, include the history of the original location in San Francisco (including whether it was the business's founding and or headquartered location) and the opening dates and locations of all other locations.

New Delhi Restaurant located at 160 Ellis Street was opened by Ranjan Dey on November 3, 1988. The restaurant is located in the ballroom of the former Hotel Ramona, built in 1914, two blocks from Union Square. The dining room is a grand dame, decorated like a Maharaja's private banquet room with beautiful ornate pillars, exposed brick and a handmade Italian tiled floor. Dining at New Delhi Restaurant is an experience combining the unique taste, exquisite flavors and a sense of being “dropped into India.”

Ranjan started his career in the food business at the age of 14 at Calcutta's Park Hotel as a vegetable cutter. After finishing high school, he graduated from the Institute of Catering Technology, Hotel Management and Applied Nutrition. During his studies, he kept part-time evening jobs in different hotels. After graduation, he worked at the Grand Hotel and the Great Eastern Hotel in Calcutta before moving to New Delhi where he worked in the Akbar Hotel and Hotel Janpath. Ranjan spent two years as a senior chef in the kitchens of the Maurya Sheraton Hotel in New Delhi before moving to Hong Kong.

It was while he was working at Viceroy of India that Ranjan met “the girl next door” – literally. Kodi Gamble, from Caldwell, Idaho, was the daughter of a retired U.S. Navy senior chief. Her parents were part owners of the Prince of Wales Pub located next door to Viceroy of India. Kodi and Ranjan eventually got married in 1985.

Ranjan's urge to own his own restaurant was strong and, on January 20, 1984, he opened the first New Delhi Restaurant at 62 Granville Road, Tsimshatsui, Kowloon. In 1985, the restaurant moved to a bigger, new home in Kowloon on the mezzanine floor of 52 Cameron Road. In very little time, the first of his New Delhi Restaurants had become a successful operation, so Ranjan moved across the harbor and opened the second New Delhi Restaurant in June of 1986 on the ground floor of Bank of America Tower, Central, Hong Kong. His third venture, the Indian Curry Club opened in 1987 in the basement of the Tsimshatsui Center, 66 Mody Road, Kowloon.

Ranjan and Kodi created a total of four New Delhi Restaurants in Hong Kong and Bangkok. Following the birth of their first child, Sarah, on July 4, 1987, they decided to settle in the United States – Kodi’s home country – to give their daughter a strong sense of identity. They planned on consolidating their businesses into one restaurant in their city of residence.
Ranjan and Kodi conducted a nationwide search for a new home, including Honolulu, New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego. San Francisco was an instant hit! They fell in love with the city’s beauty, people, culture, history and international outlook. The current New Delhi Restaurant opened with great fanfare in November 1988 and has been open ever since.

From the first day, New Delhi Restaurant has been a gathering place for colorful San Francisco locals, visiting celebrities and a hub of the Bay Area Indian community. Former Mayor Art Agnos cut the ribbon on opening day, and it has been a San Francisco fixture ever since.

b. Describe any circumstances that required the business to cease operations in San Francisco for more than six months?

Operations took a brief hiatus in 2002. New Delhi Restaurant closed for eight months for City-mandated structural retrofitting following new building ownership by the Tenderloin Neighborhood Development Corporation. During this time, Ranjan traveled to India and created the documentary television show "My India with Ranjan Day" – a culinary cultural travel adventure highlighting the food and people of India. Episodes can be found on YouTube.

c. Is the business a family-owned business? If so, give the generational history of the business.

The business is technically not “a family-owned business,” defined here as any business in which two or more family members are involved and the majority of ownership or control lies within a family. Ranjan Dey is the sole owner of the business.

d. Describe the ownership history when the business ownership is not the original owner or a family-owned business.

The ownership history of the business is as follows:
1988 to Present: Ranjan Dey

e. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30 years, the applicant will need to provide documentation of the existence of the business prior to current ownership to verify it has been in operation for 30+ years. Please use the list of supplemental documents and/or materials as a guide to help demonstrate the existence of the business prior to current ownership.

Documentation of the existence of the business verifying it has been in operation for 30+ years is provided in this Legacy Business Registry application.

f. Note any other special features of the business location, such as, if the property associated with the business is listed on a local, state, or federal historic resources registry.
The historic resource status of the building that houses the business is classified by the Planning Department as Category B, No Historic Resource Present / Not Age Eligible, with regard to the California Environmental Quality Act.

a. Describe the business's contribution to the history and/or identity of the neighborhood, community or San Francisco.

New Delhi Restaurant is located in the Theatre District of San Francisco, two blocks from Union Square on the edge of the Tenderloin. Many theater patrons start or end their evenings with dinner and a smart cocktail at New Delhi Restaurant. The restaurant has served countless theater stars and casts of shows from Stomp! to Wicked. Its central location means that elegant arts patrons can fill the bar and dining room early in the evening. Cooks and hotel staff from the surrounding neighborhood enjoy stopping in for an after-shift drink later in the evening.

Named one of the finest Indian restaurants in the United States by The New York Times and featured on the Galloping Gourmet television show, New Delhi Restaurant continues to garner acclaim. Decorated like a Maharajah's ornate banquet room, the restaurant serves food made from recipes culled from the royal Indian menus dating back 300 to 400 years using the freshest local ingredients. Chef and owner Ranjan Dey, star of PBS show – “MY INDIA” creates daily specials with his six gourmet spice blends, available nationwide in gourmet specialty stores under the name New World Spices.

New Delhi Restaurant has long been a hub for the Indian community for gathering and discussing social issues such as advocating for LGBTQ rights, for political and community fundraisers, for workshops, for keynote speeches with celebrity guests and for celebrating personal milestones like birthdays and anniversaries.

b. Is the business (or has been) associated with significant events in the neighborhood, the city, or the business industry?

New Delhi Restaurant was opened by San Francisco Mayor Art Agnos on November 3, 1988. Since then, many famous politicians have crossed its threshold, including Governor Pete Wilson, Governor Jerry Brown, California State Senator Milton Marks and Mayor Willie Brown. In 1992, Bill Clinton made New Delhi Restaurant a presidential campaign stop to reach out to the Bay Area Indian community. He returned during his re-election campaign in 1996. U.S. Senator Kamala Harris has hosted fundraisers and meetings at New Delhi Restaurant, along with many local San Franciscan politicians, including Mayor London Breed.

New Delhi Restaurant has been the host of several Indian community events to bridge gaps and provide a stage for the city commissioners, supervisors, consulates and many community and trade organizations. New Delhi Restaurant has also hosted neighborhood planning meetings.
and committees for the Tenderloin Neighborhood Development Corporation’s Tenderloin After-School Program.

Every year, the Ministry of Tourism, Govt. of India collaborates with New Delhi Restaurant to hold events to explore bilateral tourism incentives. New Delhi Restaurant is also the headliner to promote Indian wedding catering and Indian corporate events to over 200 venues by putting together educational events for the National Association of Catering Executives (NACE), International Live Events Association (ILEA), Wedding Industry Professionals (WIPA) and many more.

After the 1989 Loma Prieta Earthquake, New Delhi Restaurant volunteered to provide food for fire fighters.

c. Has the business ever been referenced in an historical context? Such as in a business trade publication, media, or historical documents?

Ranjan and New Delhi Restaurant have been featured in 7x7 Magazine, The New York Times, the San Francisco Chronicle, the San Francisco Examiner, the San Francisco Bay Area Guardian and India West. New Delhi Restaurant and Chef Owner Ranjan Dey have received numerous awards and gold medals for excellence in Indian cuisine and spice blends.

d. Is the business associated with a significant or historical person?

New Delhi restaurant is a favorite spot of many Indian celebrities. On any given day you may be dining next to a spiritual guru like Dr. Deepak Chopra, a Silicon Valley mogul, famous Indian film stars or Miss Universe. New Delhi Restaurant’s appeal reaches non-Indian folks as well: Steve Jobs, Anthony Hopkins, Dianne Feinstein and Nancy Pelosi have all dined at New Delhi Restaurant. Julia Child, Martin Yan and Chef Sanjeev Kapoor have all stopped at the restaurant, hosted events and spent evenings over dinner and wine with owner Ranjan Dey.

Several other groups have significant ties to New Delhi Restaurant: Non-Stop Bhranga, a San Francisco-based Indian dance troupe, had their first public performance in New Delhi’s dining room; the South Asian Bar Association held their first meeting at New Delhi Restaurant; and the Gulabi Gang, an Indian group that provides support and protection for women who are victims of domestic violence, held their first American fundraiser at New Delhi Restaurant. Since then, several chapters of Gulabi Gang have formed in the Bay Area and in other parts of the United States.

One of Ranjan’s private projects is what he calls “The Celebrity Chair Project.” When celebrities visit New Delhi Restaurant, they writes their names on the underside of their chairs before they leave. A few chairs have more than one name. Over the years, the list has grown to over 50 names and includes diverse range of people from Lee Iacocca to Herb Caen to Walter Cronkite.

e. How does the business demonstrate its commitment to the community?
New Delhi Restaurant has been a supporter of over 500 different local charities and nonprofits since the very beginning. In 2007, they began their partnership with the Tenderloin After-School Program and created Compassionate Chefs Cafe. CCC is the nonprofit arm of New Delhi Restaurant; it passes on 100% of funds raised to the kids across the street in the Tenderloin After-School Program and also to children across the ocean in the Gandhi Ashram in Ahmedabad, India. Their mission to help kids from lower incomes become citizens of the world through music, cultural exchanges and connections with ongoing programs.

Ranjan, Kodi, and New Delhi Restaurant are also the part of the creative team behind the annual Spring India Day in Union Square. Spring India Day was created to experience the food, culture, arts and enthusiasm of India. Spring India Day 2020 will be May 30th, marking the sixth year anniversary.

f. Provide a description of the community the business serves.

The community that New Delhi Restaurant serves is extremely diverse, ranging from the executives at Twitter’s nearby office to the hospitality workers from the many hotels in the area. New Delhi Restaurant has long been a home to travelers and local alike. The main goal of New Delhi Restaurant has been, and continues to be, to bridge the divides of culture, class, race and gender in order to create a sustainable and welcoming community and dining experience for all.

g. Is the business associated with a culturally significant building/structure/site/object/interior?

New Delhi Restaurant has been occupying the same location for over 30 years. That continuity of stewardship has allowed the historical dining room and bar to be preserved and maintained just as it was when the former Hotel Romona was in its prime. The hotel was built in 1914 and is considered a historical landmark in its own right.

Patrons can find New Delhi Restaurant from the street by looking up and seeing the four-story high, sky blue New Delhi mural on the side of the building. Once inside, they will be able to walk on the imported Italian marble floor. The handmade marble tiles were brought from Florence, Italy, installed in 1914 and lovingly maintained ever since.

h. How would the community be diminished if the business were to be sold, relocated, shut down, etc.?

If New Delhi Restaurant were to close, the community would lose a valuable gathering place. There is no physical neighborhood associated with Indian citizens in San Francisco (e.g., Chinatown, Japantown or North Beach). New Delhi Restaurant has filled that void at various points over the decades and delights in the opportunity to continue to do so. If the restaurant closed, there would be a loss of community, a loss of support for the children of Compassionate Chef’s Cafe and the end of a three-decades-long meeting spot for Indian and non-Indian communities of San Francisco and the Greater Bay Area. New Delhi Restaurant is a cultural cornerstone that has elevated the cultural narrative of the Indian community and the understanding of what an Indian restaurant can be. It shows the younger generation that Indian cuisine can be a part of high society and that the possibilities are endless.

New Delhi Restaurant is one of only a few fine dining Indian restaurants in San Francisco. Losing it would leave a significant gap in that culinary area. New Delhi Restaurant houses over 200 unique recipes that were created by Ranjan. If the restaurant were to close, they would be lost.

Over a dozen jobs would be lost should New Delhi Restaurant close. Ranjan and New Delhi Restaurant have been an important training ground for many hospitality students, helping to create the next generation of food and beverage industry employees. Several of the employees have worked there for over 26 years and would be affected the most.

a. Describe the business and the essential features that define its character.

New Delhi Restaurant has been committed to presenting Indian food and hospitality to their guests since the very beginning. As soon as a guest opens the door, they are enveloped in the aromas and sounds of India. The bar leads to a large, spacious dining room decorated with portraits of Indian maharajahs and fine art depicting scenes from the “Madhushala” or “House of Wine” poems. Owner Ranjan Dey’s life goal is to “infect his guests with the spirit of India,” and the restaurant represents this philosophy in every way.

New Delhi Restaurant is the prime source for planning and executing a beautiful Indian wedding. For over 30 years, the restaurant has been host to many significant weddings and events held in San Francisco. New Delhi Restaurant specializes in both on-site and off-site catering, with exclusive relationships at The Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Four Seasons Hotel, Fairmont Hotel, Westin St Francis Hotel and St. Regis Hotel and working relationships with many downtown hotels. New Delhi Restaurant specializes in regional Indian Cuisine from Punjab, Kashmir, Goa, Bengal, Hyderabad and Gujrat and have detailed knowledge of planning different religious wedding menus.

In addition to wedding and event planning, New Delhi Restaurant is the only Indian restaurant in San Francisco with the ghost chili on its menu. The chili is an Indian specialty and has the highest recorded spice level.

New Delhi Restaurant is also the home of New World Spices - Ranjan’s boutique spice company. One of the highest compliments that can be paid by any dining customers is a request for a recipe. One of the difficulties in recreating Indian dishes at home is the masala, or mixture of spices. Occasionally customers have been gifted with an envelope of seasonings for a particular dish. Ranjan has gotten reports of successful dinner parties and one amusing letter from a long-time guest from Hong Kong. He opened his suitcase upon arriving home to find everything covered in a rather pungent, fine, orange dust. Now, every time he travels, he thinks of New Delhi Restaurant. This customer dedication led to the debut of New Delhi Restaurant’s line of Gourmet Indian Spices on October 15, 1990. These hand-mixed Indian spice blends were inspired by the favorite dishes of many royal families in ancient India and created in the kitchen of the New Delhi Restaurant by Ranjan Dey. A gift pack of this uniquely San Francisco memory is available at the restaurant to take home.

New Delhi Restaurant is also available for private dining and events. It has been host to many significant meetings and events held in San Francisco. Its grand interiors lend character and ambiance to any type of intimate events. It’s also a great venue for rehearsal dinners and spousal programs. The Indian Traveling Table is a Culinary, Cultural and Travel Adventure and is a hit with associations and corporations. It is a significant part of the community diversity program and a great team builder. If the event will be larger, New Delhi’s dining room can accommodate up to 225 guests for standing cocktail receptions.

New Delhi Restaurant’s most recent accolade was being included as an Airbnb San Francisco Experience, which highlights unique locations and activities in the San Francisco Bay Area. Visitors can book a private cooking lesson and dinner with Ranjan in New Delhi’s kitchen.

b. How does the business demonstrate a commitment to maintaining the historical traditions that define the business, and which of these traditions should not be changed in order to retain the businesses historical character? (e.g., business model, goods and services, craft, culinary, or art forms)

New Delhi Restaurant has a dedication to the craft of Indian food and always will. The menu began as traditional northern Indian and has evolved over the years to represent both the wider Indian culinary cultural and the changes that have occurred both here and in India. Ranjan offers cooking classes to help promote the cuisine of India along with selling his custom curry spice blends for home cooks. Indian cuisine is at the very heart of New Delhi Restaurant. There is a deep connection with Indian heritage through the food, recipes, spice mixes and empowerment of the Indian community. The restaurant should continue to maintain these ideals that uplift and center the Indian communities of San Francisco.

c. How has the business demonstrated a commitment to maintaining the special physical features that define the business? Describe any special exterior and interior physical characteristics of the space occupied by the business (e.g. signage, murals, architectural details, neon signs, etc.).

The physical location of New Delhi Restaurant is located in the ballroom of the former Hotel Ramona. The front of the building is painted saffron yellow with Indian motifs and a large sky-blue mural is painted on the outside wall facing toward Stockton Street. Inside, there are several murals and artistic touches that were created by noted San Francisco artist Kenneth W. Cook. These have been touched up and added to by the original artist over the years.
The floor of the dining room is 19th Century hand-poured tiles imported from Italy. The original exposed brick can be seen on one wall and tall Louis XVI-style gold-capped pillars from the ballroom days divide the room. The overall structure was retrofitted for earthquakes in 2002, but great care was taken to maintain the classic look and feel of a maharajah’s private banquet hall.

d. When the current ownership is not the original owner and has owned the business for less than 30 years; the applicant will need to provide documentation that demonstrates the current owner has maintained the physical features or traditions that define the business, including craft, culinary, or art forms. Please use the list of supplemental documents and/or materials as a guide to help demonstrate the existence of the business prior to current ownership.

NEW DELHI — The Consul General of India, K.K. Rana celebrated with Ranjan Dey the opening of Dey's restaurant, the New Delhi Restaurant at 160 Ellis St. The New Delhi menu is highlighted with recreations of sixteenth and seventeenth century recipes favored by famous kings of India.
President Bill Clinton, Ranjan Dey, Kodi Dey and Sarah Dey during Clinton's 1992 presidential campaign. New Delhi Restaurant was the host of a meeting between between Clinton and the Indian community of the Bay Area.
ONLY IN S.F., sort of more or less: A world-class Dixieland band playing in an East Indian restaurant in the Tenderloin. That was Fri. night at the New Delhi, which was packed with toetappers and fingersnappers, among them a cherubic Walter Cronkite, a great fan of Frisco Jazz. The moments he spent playing washboard with Turk Murphy at the dear departed Earthquake McGoon's were "the high point of my life, to date," said the Cronk. The band, the Minstrels of Annie St., had a wonderful sound, from cornetist Bob Schultz's Muggsy Spanier wah-wah to the rich tuba of Bill Carroll ... By the way, Cronkite and his wife, Betsy, killed some wkend time here by catching the movie "JFK," which Walter denounces as "awful, terrible — I almost walked out of it." He was appalled to find himself playing a part in it — via a newsclip of his assassination coverage — and vows to protest to CBS.

12. About Chef Ranjan Dey
Once Upon A Time...

...there was a young man from Calcutta who seemed to be born with a spoon in his hand - along with a desire to be hosting the party.

Chef Ranjan Dey comes from a long line of open-hearted people who believe the kitchen is the heart of the home and the center of the action. When he was a child in Calcutta, his mother would often be in the kitchen cooking for friends and relatives. He spent many happy hours tagging after her in the kitchen.

Ranjan's father, Rabindra Chandra Dey, was an Indian broadcast journalist and their home was often the gathering place for Indian media figures. Where else to settle in and chat but in the kitchen? After all, the food is already there.

When Ranjan was 14, he got an after school job at the Calcutta Park Hotel to pay for all the necessities a teenage boy needs. The big job: kitchen “handy boy”, which meant scrubbing pots, peeling vegetables and doing whatever odd work was needed. The hours spent deep in the belly of the hotel kitchen sparked an interest that continues to this day. Ranjan was accepted to the Institute of Hotel Management, Catering Technology and Applied Nutrition. Over 4000 applied, 40 were accepted and 28 graduated in 1977.

After working at several hotel chains and being part of the opening team for ITC Hotel Chain, Maurya Sheraton, Ranjan left for an opportunity in Hong Kong. Soon Ranjan was working all over Southeast Asia.

While working in Hong Kong, he met the next door American girl Kodi Gamble - who was working at the Prince of Wales pub, right next to the Viceroy of India restaurant, which Ranjan was managing. Kodi and Ranjan married and moved to the United States in 1988.

Since that time, Ranjan has continued the tradition of his family by turning New Delhi Restaurant into an extension of his childhood kitchen in India. All are welcome to chat, sip tea and be part of his global Indian family.
New Delhi Restaurant is in the process of being declared a "Legacy Business" of San Francisco. New Delhi Restaurant is the oldest, continually operating Indian restaurant in the San Francisco Bay Area. It has been serving guests from around the world in the same location for over 30 years. Over 2 million guests have been served and over 2000 events catered.
New Delhi Restaurant is located in a historic building in downtown San Francisco.

New Delhi Restaurant is located in the ballroom of the former Hotel Ramona, built in 1914 - over 100 years ago. The dining room is a grand dame, decorated like a Maharaja’s private banquet room with beautiful ornate pillars, exposed brick and a handmade Italian tiled floor. Dining at New Delhi Restaurant is an experience combining the unique taste, exquisite flavors and a sense of being “dropped into India”.

New World Spices was created in response to customer requests for Indian spices they could cook with at home. Prior to the development of New World Spices, Ranjan would occasionally share his blends with certain valued customers. One reported trouble at airport customs when a baggie of curry opened in his luggage, resulting in bright orange laundry. This customer dedication was the inspiration for New World Spices!

About Chef Ranjan Dey

Chef Ranjan Dey of New Delhi Restaurant likes to say that his passion is “to infect everyone with India.” To achieve his goal, he has launched a fine dining restaurant, catered thousands of weddings and events, launched a line of exclusive Indian spices, and played an equally dedicated role as a speaker and tour guide. But, as with everything to do with Ranjan, there’s a twist: Ranjan believes in “edu-tainment” - which is the term he likes to use to describe his style of speaking. Over the many years, Ranjan has “edu-tained” audiences at San Francisco’s Commonwealth Club, Chamber of Commerce, Indian Chamber of Commerce in Atlanta, Consular Corps of San Francisco, World Affairs Council, SF Chefs, and many other venues.

As demonstrated in the documentary series “My India With Ranjan Dey”, he has a way with audiences. Through humor, wit, entertainment and motivation, Ranjan teases out the lesser known facts of food, and the nuances of eating -- something we do every day, but sometimes forget to sufficiently enjoy.

Often, Ranjan’s talks feature live food tastings featuring New World Spices, making the event a memorable and multi-sensory experience. The next time you’re at a talk with Ranjan, you’ll see why his audiences leave with their bellies full and their curiosities satiated.

Ranjan Dey started his career in the food business at the age of 14 at Calcutta’s Park Hotel as a vegetable cutter. After finishing high school, he graduated from the Institute of Catering Technology, Hotel Management and Applied Nutrition in Calcutta. During all this, he kept his part-time evening job in different hotels.

He worked at the Grand and Great Eastern Hotels in Calcutta before moving to New Delhi where he worked in Akbar and Janpath Hotels. Ranjan spent two years as a senior chef in the opening team of the Maurya Sheraton Hotel in New Delhi.
In 1979, Ranjan moved to Hong Kong to work for Harilela Group managing 35 Gaylord restaurants in 12 countries based out of Hong Kong. In 1981, he launched a fine dining chain for the same group called Viceroy Of India.

In 1982, Ranjan started the first New Delhi Restaurant in Hong Kong. By 1987, he had expanded the New Delhi Restaurant group to four outlets in Hong Kong and one in Bangkok.

In 1988, Ranjan, his wife Kodi and their eleven-month-old daughter re-located to San Francisco to open the current and final New Delhi Restaurant.

In addition to cooking, Ranjan branched out as a travel guide with "Curry Trails" - a cultural, culinary travel adventure. It takes you to the soul of India, the food, history, traditions and the mythology of this complex and fascinating country. Chef Ranjan Dey and his passion for all things Indian are your guide; he shares the secrets of this special country and its people.

He is also the founder of the Compassionate Chefs Cafe and he has worked with more than one hundred non-profit charitable organizations in the city. He believes that we are all citizens of the world and has directed his life towards helping other people believe it too.

History: The Maharajah of Mysore (1839) liked his food spicy hot; and the nearby city of Madras is famous for using tamarind in its local fare. This blend was inspired by this combination.

History: "The Spanish Maharani" Maharani Anita Delgrada of Kapurthala (1914). Her connection with the saffron producing country of Spain lead to the creation of this spice blend.

History: Maharani of Kutch Behar (1887) encouraged the emancipation of women in Bengal. Her favorite dish was "Steamed Lemon Mustard Fish Curry." This blend is created in her honor History: Zinat Mahal, Maharani of Delhi (1857) loved chicken tikka. A keen interest in bringing the famous tandoori taste to the backyard barbecue helped in creating this spice blend.

History: Maharajah Dalip Singh (1838-83) was formally declared Maharajah of Punjab in September of 1843. His love of mangoes inspired the creation of this blend.

History: It was necessary for the royal chef to travel with a supply of cardamom, cinnamon and clove because the Maharajah of Kashmir (1860) liked them so much. This blends' origin is tied to this fact.
ENTREES

CURRIES  To us, curry means a sauce made with different blends of spices. Different curry sauces are made to cook different dishes such as poultry, meat, vegetables, seafood, etc. Therefore, each curry dish tastes different from the other, depending on the spices used in that particular dish and its particular blend. Curries in India have nothing to do with the wacky yellow stuff from the bottle or the tube called curry powder or paste; but a whole new world of never-ending delightful celebration of new flavors. All our curry dishes are cooked to order. Please tell us your taste preference of mild, medium, wild or dangerous to enjoy your meal to the fullest. Kindly allow us 15-20 minutes, because we cook each dish individually.

Shubhojon! (Bon Appétit!)

Alas, he that with eager lips, has not kissed this wine,
Alas, he that trembling with joy, has not touched a brimming goblet,
He that has not drawn close the coy wine-maiden by her hand,
Has wasted this honey-filled tavern of Life.

VISUAL TOUCH TO A POETIC STANCE
Renowned Indian actor, Amitabh Bachchan's father, Harivansh Rai Bachchan's 'Madhushaalaa', is a classic collection of 135 verses (rubai) written in early 1933. It is a testament to not only the intoxication of wine but the entire ambience that corresponds to the romanticist characterized by all the frolic and feminine beauty. All the verses end in the word madhushaalaa. The poet tries to explain the complexity of life with four main elements, which appear in almost every verse: madhu, madira or haalaa (wine), saaqqi (server), pyaala (wine goblet) and of course madhushaalaa (house of wine/tavern).

Umashankar's version of 'Madhushaalaa'... romanticism characterize by beauty is displayed on the east wall of New Delhi Restaurant. Madhushaalaa Collection paintings of famous artist Umashankar are a reflection of the beauty and aesthetics of the rich legacy of India's miniature painting style. To enhance the beauty and the longevity of the paintings, rare pigments are used, many ground from semi-precious stones, gold, and silver. The paintings envoke us with a theme which has instant appeal. The only problem is how to resist the temptation of acquiring some of these enchanting works to hang them in our private cellar or preferably bedrooms... I invite you to partake in the pleasure of infusing this idea of enjoying wine with not just our gourmet Indian cuisine but also with fine arts and literature.

If you are interested in taking one of the masterpieces home, please ask your server.

June 28, 2019

Dear Mayor Breed,

It is with great pleasure and without hesitation that I write this letter to support the most worthy application of the New Delhi Restaurant at 160 Ellis Street for designation as a Legacy Business in San Francisco.

Often public officials are asked to write letters of support that are more dependent on written materials provided by the sponsor of a proposed action. Not here, as mayor of San Francisco it was my privilege to cut the ribbon to open the New Delhi in November of 1988. Indeed, over the past 31 years I have had the opportunity to enjoy wonderful meals prepared by Chef/owner Ranjan Dey for my family and guests in addition to being present to celebrate the restaurant's 5th, 10th, 15th, 20th, 25th and 30th anniversaries.

It is this history that enables me to say, without reservation, that the Ranjan Dey and the New Delhi are the very embodiment of the 3 criteria that make up the Legacy Business law.

Celebrity Chef Ranjan Dey selected the toughest neighborhood in San Francisco to start a new restaurant business in the Tenderloin in 1988. Throughout the past 30 years...thick and thin...Mr. Dey has raised his family who also work in the restaurant. In all that time, he has never wavered in his commitment to the neighborhood and the City to provide a cultural and ethnic experience that reflects that best traditions of an important community which is an asset to San Francisco's diversity.
Mr Dey has long made it a commitment to the neighborhood and the city to transform his restaurant into a fundraiser for the poor children of the Tenderloin to actually travel to New Delhi to meet with children of their age in a cultural exchange as well as host poor Indian children here.

Truly amazing... to my knowledge, no single small business of any kind in this city has ever tried such an extraordinary project...much less actually do it many times over the past 30 years.

The restaurant itself is decorated like a Maharajah’s private banquet room and serves authentic cuisine made from recipes culled from the royal Indian menus dating back 300 to 400 years using the freshest local ingredients.

It is with all of this in mind, that I strongly endorse the application of the New Delhi Restaurant and its owner Mr. Ranjan Dey for designation as a Legacy Business.

Sincerely,

Art Agnos
Business Description

New Delhi Restaurant was opened by Ranjan Dey on November 3, 1988. The restaurant is located in the ballroom of the former Hotel Ramona, built in 1914, two blocks from Union Square. The dining room is decorated with ornate pillars, exposed brick and a handmade Italian tiled floor. Ranjan started his career in the food business at the age of 14 at Calcutta's Park Hotel as a vegetable cutter. After finishing high school, he graduated from the Institute of Catering Technology, Hotel Management and Applied Nutrition. He worked at the Grand Hotel and the Great Eastern Hotel in Calcutta before moving to New Delhi where he worked in the Akbar Hotel and Hotel Janpath.

Ranjan spent two years as a senior chef in the kitchens of the Maurya Sheraton Hotel in New Delhi before moving to Hong Kong. On January 20, 1984, he opened the first New Delhi Restaurant there. Following the birth of their first child, in 1987, Ranjan and his wife decided to settle in the United States – his wife Kodi’s home country. They consolidated their businesses into one restaurant in San Francisco. From the first day, New Delhi Restaurant has been a gathering place for colorful San Francisco locals, visiting celebrities and a hub of the Bay Area Indian community. Named one of the finest Indian restaurants in the United States by The New York Times and featured on the Galloping Gourmet television show, New Delhi Restaurant continues to garner acclaim.

The business is located on the north side of Ellis Street between Mason and Cyril Magnin streets in the Downtown neighborhood. It is within a C-3-G (Downtown - General) Zoning District and a 225-S Height and Bulk District.
